

CIS 525 Course Description:

The course examines basic cryptography principles such as encryption, hashes, message authentication codes, digital signatures, digital certificates and network defense.